Sobibor was a Nazi death camp in Poland at which 250,000 Jews were put to death between September '42 and October '43. Knowing their fate, Jews in the camp organized an escape. This acclaimed, historically accurate film is the inspiring dramatization of the largest escape from a death camp. The movie shows the conditions in the camp and the planning and execution of the breakout which resulted in the Nazis' dismantling and destruction of the camp. A powerful film.

UPCOMING...

Tuesday, February 20th, 7:00pm
"Crossfire"

This was the first Hollywood movie to examine anti-Semitism. It was released the same year, 1947, as the other excellent film to address the issue, "Gentleman's Agreement". In the movie, an anti-Semitic soldier meets a Jewish businessman in a bar with violent results. Brilliant performances by three "Roberts" - Ryan, Mitchum, and Young - make this powerful portrayal of the evil of Jew hatred memorable. This is not only an excellent film, but an important one.
